Physical Security

Access Control

Are you properly managing entry to sensitive locations?
If not, the consequences can add up...

- Theft of product, intellectual property and misuse of company assets
- Exposure of confidential information and loss of client trust
- Unwelcome intruders and exposure to litigation

Benefits of Access Control

- Protects Employees - Promotes employee safety by keeping out unauthorized personnel and outside intruders.
- Safeguards Assets – Permits authorized entry, while maintaining a high level of building and property security.
- Provides Audit Trail - Identifies who was in a specific area at an exact time that an incident occurred
- Eliminates Mechanical Keys - Avoids all the hassles associated with mechanical key and lock systems – the time and cost of re-keying when an employee is terminated, the cost of duplicate keys, lost keys, tracking who has keys, and more.

Getting Started

Here are the basic access control components typically deployed:

- Access control system and readers, real-time clock, supervised input points
- Relays, Processor, Operating System, Database Server

We'll run the numbers to show you how access control solutions pay for themselves.
