Corporate Audio, Video Services

Audio, Web, Video Conferencing

Is it difficult to get your teams in one room or all on the same page? If so, your business could be missing opportunities...

Conferencing allows real time interaction among employees, vendors or any group without having to arrange for everyone to be in the same room at the same time. Meetings are shorter, your employees are more productive, and your business moves ahead:

- Sales – Deliver presentations remotely to prospects; qualify them before driving or flying.
- Training – Develop employees and partners; train customers on new products.
- Marketing – Plan, coordinate, and execute campaigns faster to beat the competition.
- Human Resources – Roll out policies and new programs to employees in branch offices.
- Engineering – Collaborate on designs and plans to get solutions out the door faster.
- Remote Workers – Enable impromptu corporate meetings without the commute.
- Project Managers – Keep initiatives on track with progress and status check-ups.
- Customer Service/Helpdesk – Lower service costs; improve customer relationships.

Flexibility and Savings

Options include premises-based solutions that integrate with your phone system to web-enabled services. The potential for savings on travel is huge when you consider plane, trains, cars, hotel rooms, meals and the potential travel delays that could ruin even the best laid plans. Conferencing technology simplifies everything:

- Set up meetings on the fly
- Share business applications, presentations and documents during the discussion
- Moderate your virtual meetings, introduce speakers, and handle the flow of events

We Make Conferencing Easy

When travel is driving up your costs and wasting too much staff time, NuLeaf has solutions that are right for your organization – at a cost that makes sense.
