Business Communications

Voice | Phone Systems Unified Communications & Collaboration

Is your business exploiting new communications tools to compete? If not, the consequences can add up...

- Increased customer dissatisfaction when calls go unanswered
- Lower productivity when it's hard to track down voicemails, emails and faxes
- Slowed response when you can't pull appropriate expertise into customer calls
- Poor team performance when travel isn't feasible and conferences are difficult to set up
- Challenges managing standalone voice and messaging systems at multiple locations

It's Your Business

Unified Communications takes your voice further than ever. Now you can...

- Connect staff, partners, vendors, and customers with the expertise they need
- Find out if colleagues are available before attempting to bring them into a call
- Access and share video on the desktop, on the road, and on-demand
- Make mobile devices extensions of the office system so you can stay on-the-go
- Facilitate collaboration, bringing together individuals, workgroups, and teams
- Innovate across the value chain by integrating VoIP into business processes

Our Solutions Offer

- Savings in IT staff time with online system administration for one or multiple offices
- No more expensive tech visits for moves and changes
- Unified Messaging that combines Voicemail, Email and Fax in one inbox
- Support for advanced tools: Presence, IM, PC call control, CRM screen-pops, more
- Automated personal assistants and speech interfaces
- On-the-fly conferencing and web collaboration that gets teams together quickly
- Mobility solutions and work-at-home phones that mirror the phones in the office
- Affordable contact centers that let customers reach sales and service teams

We Make Communications Easy
